

CLIVIA HUNT

Date: 21 September
Leader: Neville Lee
Distance: 9.5km
Elevation: 903m
Hikers: 14
Report By: Neville Lee

A small, convivial group of 14 Club members enjoyed a challenging hike from Shawswood to the top of Grey Mare's Tail Falls with one main objective :
to see if the natural, wild Clivias were in bloom again this year.

Our timing turned out to be fortuitous and the clivias did not disappoint as you can see from the photos.

The Falls, however, did not rise to the occasion (as one would expect in September) with a mere trickle falling down the cliffs to the rocky pool far below.

It was a warm, clear day and the views were unimpeded.

We were out in nature for just under 6 hours and were grateful to arrive back at the cars where we could get those boots off and relax under the huge shady trees on lush soft lawn.
