

John Pickup

Dawn Norton

Beth Bester

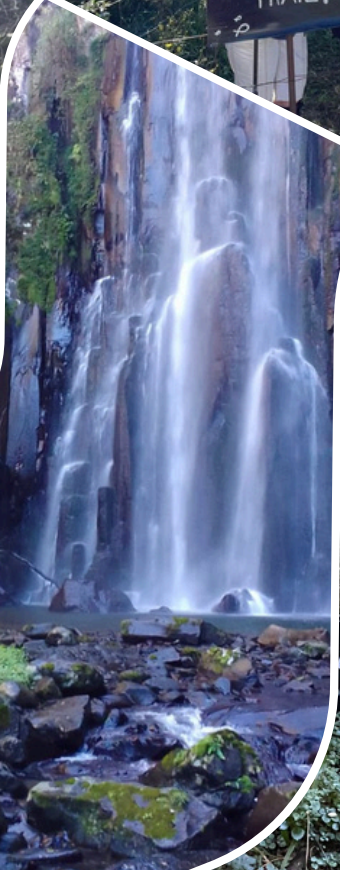

Tanya Adey

Charles Guiot

Katy Guiot

John Pickup

Beth Bester

left
←
water

TWIN FALLS FARM
twinfallsfarm.co.za
PROUDLY SOUTH AFRICAN

Beth Bester

Charles Guiot

Tanya Adey

Dawn Norton

Twin Falls hike 3rd May 2026

This hike was re-titled by Janna as the “Here we go again” hike! Being her third attempt to launch it! But the curse had not lifted because as if that wasn’t enough, Janna went down with a bad dose of “flu” and had to hit the deck on Saturday morning! The hopeful numbers having reached 30 by cut off on Thursday morning, dwindled down to 13 by the same time on Saturday morning.

Gallantly Beth stepped up and took the reins, this hike was not going to get away again!! With no more than a short description of what was where, we gathered at the guest cottages and started off through a farm gate into the mist belt forest in search of the Big Thunder – not one, but two!

It was a beautiful sunshiney day. A serene walk through the natural trees and grasses to start with had us in a mellow mood until we reached the first of many river crossings, lethal things that quickly turned the senses to high alert. One thing was clear, if a Leader says bring sticks, BRING STICKS!!

My take – if MayaLee can do this so can you, get a grip!

The first waterfall appeared through the trees and wow! the slipping and sliding and extended adrenaline rush over the last kilometre suddenly seemed irrelevant. We paused for photos and refuelled and then retraced our steps back to the main path, now a little more relaxed with knowing what to expect!

The second waterfall was no less impressive and yes, worth the river crossings that were par with the course on that path as well. The photos tell the story!

This was a short but highly technical hike, no muscles were left unused by the end of it!

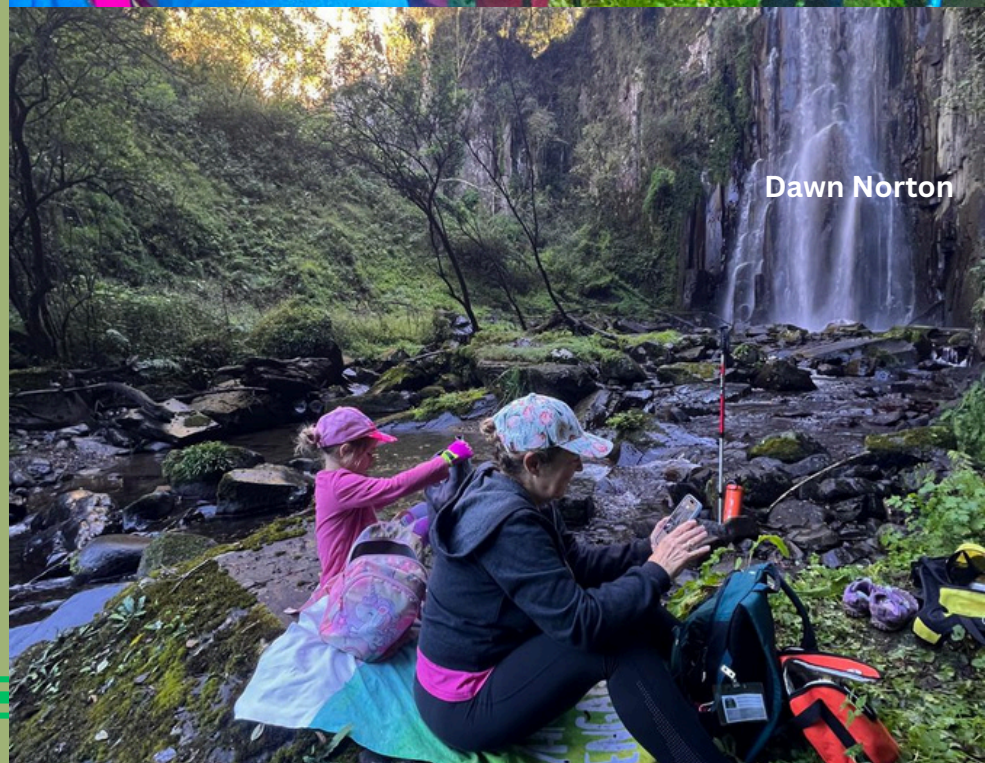

We set off to the Karkloof Country Club and celebrated with huge slices of cheesecake and chocolate cake washed down by superb ground coffee. Only happy memories!

Will we be back? Yes, Janna has to fill her role here eventually but definitely not in summer!!

Hettie

Tanya Adey

Dawn Norton